

Queen Elizabeth II embodied so much of what the United Kingdom means to its citizens and to the world. We share the loss with her family, and with so many people in this country and beyond. We wish King Charles III the best of good fortune in the coming years.